Fellow Scale Model Rocket Enthusiasts,

With this message, I am introducing the availability of my new Saturn V and Saturn IB scale reference collection CD set to you. This is a 5-disk package packed to the rims with drawings, illustrations, photos, and technical information. If you have ever had an interest at scaling either of these historic machines, or simply wanted to understand their magnificent intricacies, this set should help answer many of your questions.

Disk 1 has several detailed NASA drawings of both rockets scanned at 600 or 1200 d.p.i. in progressive sections. Use your graphics program and printer to print and then tape these sections together for drawings up to five feet in length with standard 8-1/2" X 11" paper. Scale them up with little loss in detail.

Disk 2 has a set of informative historic *.pdf files, including the complete SA-503 and SA-504 flight manuals. Many of these files are filled with illustrations and information for both Saturn vehicles you probably have never seen before, and are quite insightful.

Disk 3 has a fantastic set of high-resolution scans of close-up photos taken of the Saturn V on display at the Kennedy Space Center. Many of these photos show exterior details many of you didn't know existed and don't show up on any NASA drawing. These are truly a great set of 'rivet' photos.

Disk 4 is a concentration of Saturn V reference details using photos and illustrations.

Disk 5 is a concentration of Saturn IB reference details using photos and illustrations, and a glimpse of the development of the various earlier flight versions.

This is really a great collection of Saturn information. I am offering this set for an introductory copying fee of $55.00, which includes shipping. After February 1, 2002, the price will go to $60.00 plus $3.50 for priority shipment. While you may choose to send a personal check made out to me, I encourage you to order using your credit card with PayPal (paypal.com) because it's free, convenient, and instant. If you do, just type in my email address as where you want the payment to go, select the 'service' as to what you are purchasing, and then email me that you have sent payment. I'll burn and ship your set within three days of receiving your order.

For those of you who haven't already requested a set of my 6-disk Russian CD collection, I will offer both the Russian and Saturn sets as a combination for a total of $95.00 postpaid until February 1, 2002.

Feel free to contact me for any questions you might have.
